CONSTITUENCY PROFILE

Dangamvura Chikanga Constituency

1.0 Introduction

Dangamvura Chikanga constituency is located in Manicaland Province. This constituency consists mainly of Mutare city's high density suburbs of Dangamvura and Chikanga and other suburbs which exclude Fern Valley and Green Side. The constituency's infrastructure is old and suffers from a lack of maintenance hence needs urgent face-lifting.

Manicaland Province consists of seven rural and three urban district councils. The constituency consists of ten wards (6, 7, 8, 9, 13, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19) of Mutare Municipality. In the 2013 July 31 Harmonised Elections, the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission (ZEC) allocated the province 1303 and the constituency 37 polling stations.

1.1 Population Demographics

According to the ZimStat Census Report of 2012, the total population of the province was 1 752 698, in 2012 when the last census was conducted, with 830 697 males and 922 001 females. Females constitute approximately 53% and males 47% of the population.

The composition of population by age group and sex is 0-4, 5-9 and 10-14 years age groups had the highest proportions of the population each with over 16%. The 70-74 years age group had the least proportion (1, 2%). It can further be observed that the proportion of the young population, that is those with their age under 15 years, was 44% while that of the population age 65 years and above was about 3 %.

1.2 Previous Election Results

The constituency is a stronghold of the opposition MDC T. In 2008 it was won by Giles Mutsekwa who was appointed a Minister in the government of National Unity. In 2013 the MDC T had two candidates contesting in the Constituency (Giles Mutsekwa and Arnold Tsunga). Arnold Tsunga emerged as the winner, however a party with more than one candidate participating risks splitting the votes and infighting by the candidates. The votes for ZANU PF increased from 3654 in 2008 to 9 336 in 2013 a rise of 5682 or by 156%. The MDC party lost 495 supporters in 2013 and the other candidates had less than 100 votes in the 2013 election.

Most of the candidates will be contesting in Dangamvura Chikanga for the first time, except for Kudzai Maundike and Pfugamai Mawire who took part in the July 31 Harmonised Elections. All the contesting candidates are males, reflecting that the political parties have a long way to go in ensuring gender balance. Elections remain a male dominated space in Zimbabwe.
