ZESN CONDUCTS VOTER EDUCATION AMID THE ZEC VOTER REGISTRATION BLITZ

THE ZIMBABWE Election Support Network (ZESN) conducted voter education outreach activities as part of its efforts to compliment the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission (ZEC) following the commencement of nation-wide biometric voter registration blitz from the 12th to the 26th of March 2023. This registration blitz was conducted by the Commission as part of its efforts to increase the number of people who participate in electoral processes in Zimbabwe as the nation draws nearer to the 2023 harmonised elections.

The activities facilitated by ZESN's Secretariat, Provincial coordinators and taskforce members included community hall meetings, roadshows and the distribution of information education and communication materials such as fliers, posters, branded, hats, caps and wrappers across all the 10 provinces of Zimbabwe. ZESN also conducted BVR media and publicity campaigns and utilized popular artist Tocky Vibes, social media, still images, jingles, radio programmes, print and TV adverts to increase awareness of the ZEC voter registration blitz that was taking place and to educate the electorate about the fundamental right of voting.

Community meetings were fairly well attended in all provinces by people from all walks of life with youths, women and People with Disabilities attending these meetings. In provinces like Mashonaland West and Mashonaland Central, traditional leaders were also part of the participants that attended these VE meetings and they also assisted in the distribution of VE materials.

The fliers and posters that the Network made use of during the voter education exercise had information which capacitated the electorate on the requirements of voter registration. Notable response to flier distribution was noted in Manicaland's Mutasa South Constituency, Masvingo and Mashonaland East among other provinces where ZESN mobile voter education teams visited. These also illuminated the #yourvoteisyourright message which was key in the mobilisation of potential voters to register for the 2023 harmonised election

Roadshows carried the same messaging and where edutainment was provided for in Harare, Bulawayo, Midlands and Matabeleland North. ZESN also took the opportunity to answer questions posed by the electorate whilst directing those who intended to register towards nearest centres where the ZEC BVR kits were present.

Within community meetings in all provinces, participants continuously sought more information about the delimitation process. The participants also showed concern regarding the lack of adequate information on ward boundaries. They went to implore the ZEC to illuminate information on processes such as these and recommended the usage of all forms of media in order for the electorate to quickly understand different electoral processes, their conduct and the different times they take place.

Participants also highlighted their difficulties in trying to locate different registration centres and bemoaned the lack of clear information regarding where these could be and the absence of elaborate published information about the registration blitz in general.

The voter education campaign successfully managed to reach more than 80 constituencies and conscientized the electorate, ensuring that they understood in depth the importance of participation, the need for voter registration and the requirements of the process thereof before the next elections in 2023. However, ZESN suggests that the ZEC carries out another voter registration blitz before the proclamation of the election date to allow for more of the electorate to register to vote.

ZESN CALLS FOR 50/50 GENDER PARITY TO ENSURE WOMEN INCLUSION IN ELECTORAL PROCESSES

THE ZIMBABWE Election Support Network (ZESN) has reiterated its call for 50/50 gender parity across the divide to ensure women inclusion in all realms of economic, social and political activities. This is a call that the ZESN chairperson Andrew Makoni made in his remarks during this year's commemoration of the International Women's Day which ran under the theme "#EmbracingEquality."

"The 50-50 representation has remained a figment of imagination in Zimbabwe as women remain under represented in politics in spite of the Constitution provisions on women's rights, gender balance, equality, inclusion and non-discrimination to enhance women's participation in democratic electoral processes." said Makoni.

Furthermore Makoni added on that, Zimbabwe is a state party of Regional and International instruments that recognize the need for having women in democratic governance processes and removing all barriers in female participation citing instruments like the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) and the Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW) as examples and amplifying that the state must work to eliminate all barriers that prevent women from actively participating in the political sphere.

ZESN's Executive Director Rindai Vava noted with concern the perpetuation of violence against women in elections (VAWIE) acknowledging that this was "manifesting in the form of hate speech, name calling and body shaming, cyberbullying and physical violence."

She also went on to mention that, "media reportage falls short on bringing to the fore the gender dimensions of elections. This can be attributed to lack of understanding of the different roles of men and women in the elections, and actions being taken to ensure marginalized group's participation. The Network thus implores the media to focus on the gender dimensions of elections with a bias towards women to enhance their participation in democratic electoral governance processes."

Vava urged the government and those in power to show their political will in creating an enabling environment for women to fully participate in politics and election processes ahead of the 2023 harmonized elections.

"Many women having been shying away from politics due to the toxic violent political environment that usually characterizes elections, hence the need for political parties to shun violence which impedes women participation in elections," reiterated Vava
